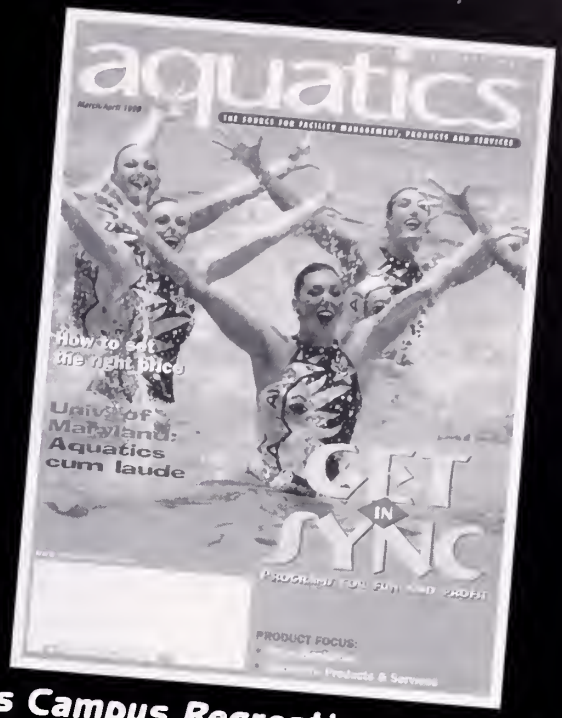
TERPS

Go Terps!

Maryland runs a great Learn To Swim Program with its teams. Bridget Mallon is one of many Terps who take time to teach young swimmers.



Maryland's Campus Recreation Center Natatorium was featured as one of the nation's top collegiate facilities in Aquatics International.

Suzy Catterson was a 15-time All-American. She became just the fourth Maryland women's swimmer to win an ACC individual championship, capturing the 100-freestyle in 2001. She was also named Maryland Student-Athlete of the Year in 2001.

The women's team celebrates aftera a big win.

COACHING STAFF

JIM WENHOLD

Head Coach
10th Season
at Maryland
Maryland '85

Jim Wenhold is in his tenth season as the head coach of both the men's and women's swimming teams at the University of Maryland. During his decade with the Terrapins, both teams have climbed up the ranks of the ACC.

The all-time winningest women's coach in school history, Wenhold has transformed the Terps into one of the nation's top programs. The women finished the season at No. 20 in the CSCAA national poll with an impressive 10-2 record.

The Terrapin women, who finished fifth at the ACC Championships, had four swimmers participate in the NCAA Championships. Petra Adamkova, Elizabeth Lavell, Bridget Mallon and Jill Martin all participated, with Lavell finishing a team-high 18th in the 1650-yard freestyle (16:24.34).

The men's team, meanwhile, has compiled a dual meet record of 56-42 since Wenhold took over the program. In the past seven years, their record stands at 46-27.

Under Wenhold's leadership, several Terrapin athletes have flourished in the postseason. Bridget Mallon became just the fifth Maryland woman ever to win an ACC championship by finishing first in the 100-yard butterfly at the conference meet. Both Mallon and freshman Elizabeth Lavell were named to the All-ACC team for the 2001-2002 season.

Wenhold graduated magna cum laude from Maryland in 1985 with a degree in physical education. He was the captain of the swim team his junior and senior years and held school records in the 100- and 200-yard backstroke as well as the 100-yard freestyle.

In 1987, Wenhold received his master's degree in sports management from Maryland. During that time he was a student assistant coach for the Terps in the sprint events.

One year later, Wenhold became a full-time faculty member in the department of kinesiology. While teaching at Maryland, he coached the Retriever Aquatic Club from 1988-91. In 1991, Wenhold returned to coaching the sprinters at Maryland. In 1993, he was elevated to head coach.

Wenhold is married to former Maryland swimming standout Amy Dilweg. The couple has two children, Jaimy (3 years old) and Amanda (four months).

COACHING STAFF

Wenhold and the team

MARK MURRAY

Assistant Coach
Fifth Season at Maryland
Virginia Commonwealth '88

Mark Murray is in his fifth season as the full-time assistant coach at Maryland. Murray came to Maryland from Salem-Teikyo University (W.Va.), where he was the head coach from 1994-1997.

As one of the best recruiters in the country, Murray was selected to be Salem-Teikyo's first head coach in 1994. During his first year at the helm, both the men's and women's teams went 1-9. By the time Murray was ready to depart for Maryland three years later, both teams were compiling 10-1 records. At the 1998 NCAA Division II championships, Salem-Teikyo's men's team finished fourth, while the women's team finished 14th. Murray coached student-athletes at Salem-Teikyo to six national titles at the 1998 NCAA Division II championships, and watched one of his swimmers be honored as the men's NCAA Division II Swimmer of the Year.

While at Salem-Teikyo, Murray's success did not go without notice. In 1996 and 1998, he was named the WVIAC (West Virginia Intercollegiate Athletic Conference) coach of the year.

Murray earned his bachelor's degree in political science from Virginia Commonwealth University in 1988. He was a four-year varsity letterwinner and a two-year team captain on the Rams' swimming and diving team. In 1991, Murray earned his master's degree, also from Virginia Commonwealth, in sports management.

JOHN WOLSH

Diving Coach
Eighth Season at Maryland
Maryland '82

John Wolsh is in his eighth season as the diving coach for both the men's and women's teams at Maryland. Under his guidance, several Maryland divers have achieved national and regional success.

Diver Kevin Burke repeated as the ACC champion in the three-meter dive in 1999 and was named the conference's Outstanding Diver of the Year. In 1998, Burke swept the one- and three-meter diving titles at the ACC Championships and was an honorable mention All-America selection at the NCAA Championships.

Five other divers (Krista Irish, Courtenay Miller, Alyssa Anderson, Ashleye Henyan and Carrie Reinhardt) have advanced to the NCAA Regional Diving Championships since Wolsh arrived at Maryland. Henyan was the 2000 ACC runner-up in the three-meter dive. Miller and Irish also placed in the top eight at the ACC meet under Wolsh's guidance.

Wolsh has been a nine-time U.S. National team coach. He most recently coached with the U.S. National team at the 2000 Jr. World Championship. Wolsh was a four-year letterwinner for the Terps (1976-79). As a diver, Wolsh was a two-time U.S. National team member and a three-time NCAA Championship qualifier.

He and his wife Lisa have two daughters, Cassandra (age 7) and Victoria (age 6). The Wolsh's also have a son, Jackson (age 3).

CHRISTY GARTH-BLAZER

Assistant Coach
First Season at Maryland
North Carolina '96

Christy Garth-Blazer is in her first season as an assistant coach at Maryland. She comes to Maryland after serving as the interim women's assistant coach at the University of Michigan during the 2000-01 season.

Garth-Blazer coached the North Carolina Aquatic Club in 1996 and the swim team at Schroeder YMCA in Milwaukee, Wisc., in 2000. She also swam and qualified for the Olympic Trials in 2000.

Garth-Blazer is a graduate of the University of North Carolina, where she swam from 1992 to 1996.

Bridget Mallon

WOMEN'S OUTLOOK

2002-03 Women's Season Preview

With three returning NCAA qualifiers and the strongest recruiting class in the program's history according to head coach Jim Wenhold, the women's swimming and diving team is poised to build on its impressive 10-2 record last season and improve on its fifth place finish at the conference championships.

"I feel this year we have a more balanced squad than we've ever had, and the potential looks good," commented Wenhold. "We have three returning individuals that participated at the NCAA Championships last season, and we have several more that could join them this year."

At the top of an extremely deep roster are seniors Bridget Mallon, Jill Martin and Shandra Johnson. Mallon, who became just the fifth Maryland woman to win an individual championship at the 2002 ACC Championships, looks to defend her title in the 100-yard butterfly (54.01). As an NCAA qualifier in both the 100- and 200-yard butterfly events last season, Mallon possesses the talent to return to the national championships and score points in both events.

Martin returns from an impressive junior campaign in which she competed in both the 100- and 200-yard breaststroke at the NCAA Championships. Wenhold praises her experience and success in the off-season and has high hopes for her senior year.

"Jill has swam at the NCAA Championships two of her three seasons at the University of Maryland," says Wenhold. "She's coming off of her best summer season ever, in which she scored at the U.S. Nationals in the 200-yard breast. We're looking for great ACC and NCAA finishes from her."

Johnson, who took a medical redshirt last season due to surgery, returns for the Terrapins as a nine-time All-American. Before transferring to Maryland from Nebraska, Johnson garnered 10 titles at Big 12 Championships for the Huskers and is now a threat to win ACC titles in the 200- and 500-yard freestyle. "If Shandra can remain healthy enough to swim and swim well for us, she will do phenomenal things," Wenhold predicts.

Elizabeth Lavell

A talented group of underclassmen led by sophomore Elizabeth Lavell round out the strong base of returners. Lavell made a huge splash last year, breaking five individual school records and earning All-ACC honors. She rewrote the Maryland record books during her phenomenal freshman season, shattering the 1650-yard freestyle mark by more than 25 seconds (16:23.56). She also holds school records in the 500-yard freestyle (4:46.43), the 1000-yard freestyle (9:53.40), the 200-yard individual medley (2:02.68) and the 400-yard individual medley (4:16.36). As an NCAA qualifier, Lavell returns for her sophomore year as one of the dominant distance swimmers in the ACC.

Two other key returning sophomores are backstroker Megan Knepper and freestyle sprinter Cynthia Weir. Knepper, one of the top three returning point scorers from last season, qualified for the U.S. National Meet during the summer, and could be a potential NCAA qualifier. Weir looks to move into the top sprinter position for her sophomore campaign.

In addition, the 2002 newcomers look to make an immediate impact on an already talented roster. Freshman Krisztina Kovacs and junior transfer Marina Mulyayeva both competed in the 2000 Olympic Games in Sydney, Australia. A talented group of newcomers join them, and the coaching staff predicts they will make a lasting impression. "This is the strongest group of swimmers we've ever brought into the program," Wenhold said.

With the strong foundation Wenhold has built and an incoming class ready to make an impact, it looks as though the sky is the limit for the 2002-03 women's swimming and diving team's campaign.

men's 2002-03 outlook

Brian Luoma

2002-03 men's season preview

The men's swimming and diving team begins the 2002-03 season relying heavily on its underclassmen, with 18 of the 26 team members being either freshmen or sophomores. Because of his young roster, head coach Jim Wenhold will depend on the leadership of three seniors, Brian Luoma, Chris Roddy and Mark Baxter, for experience and strong performances.

Wenhold has high hopes that the team will improve upon its 4-8 record last season. "Last year we had the youngest team that we had ever had in the history of Maryland swimming," said Wenhold. "It was a team that drastically lacked collegiate swimming experience. However now that the sophomores have that year of experience to rely on, we look for great results this season."

Luoma has been one of the team's most consistent performers during his time at Maryland. He holds the team's fastest times in both the 50- and 100-yard freestyle events, and scored in six out of seven events at the ACC championship last season. Wenhold looks for him to continue to thrive as the team's top sprinter.

With the graduation of Thomas Ehrhardt, Baxter will move into the Terps' No. 1 butterfly position. He had strong finishes in both the 100- and 200-yard butterfly at the conference championship last year and looks to cap off his career as a team leader and strong competitor in the butterfly events.

Junior diver Steven Vigilante and senior Chris Roddy will anchor the diving events for the Terrapins this season. Vigilante is a contender for the ACC championship on the 1-meter and 3-meter boards and both are returning from scoring points at the conference championships last season.

Mike Fried

Sophomores Mike Fried and Erik Weinberg lead a talented corps of underclassmen. Fried, one of the top three returning point scorers from last year's team, enters his sophomore season hoping to build on an impressive debut in the 100-yard freestyle and 200- and 400-yard freestyle relays at the 2002 ACC Championships. Fried should be a valuable asset in relay events as well as the sprint freestyle events.

Weinberg, a potential NCAA qualifier in the 100- and 200-yard backstroke, is coming off a freshman season in which he turned in multiple point-scoring efforts for the team. He will be the leader in the backstroke events.

Nine freshmen join the squad this year, and a determining factor of the team's success may depend on how quickly the they can adjust in the beginning. One freshman in particular that stands out is Jonathan Dugan, who Wenhold predicts will be a point-scorer at the ACC Championships in the distance and middle distance events.

With just three seniors, the 2002-03 Terrapins are filled with potential and should be a team to watch this season and those that will follow. The leadership of the senior class and the performance of a deep roster will be key components for the success of the 2002-03 Terp squad.

2001-02 men's season review

ACC Recap

The University of Virginia men's swimming and diving team won its fourth consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference Championships at the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium on the campus of the University of Maryland. The Cavaliers finished the three-day meet with 872 points, just missing the all-time scoring record they set last year with 883.5 points.

Virginia won 15 of 20 events en route to its first-place finish. Georgia Tech finished second in the team standings with 580.5 points, passing its previous highest place finish of third place. North Carolina was third with 501.5 points, while Florida State finished fourth with 395 points. Clemson (383), Maryland (280), NC State (259), and Duke (88) rounded out the team scores.

Virginia's Luke Anderson was named the ACC's most valuable swimmer after capturing three individual titles. Anderson took home top honors in the 50, 100, and 200 freestyles. His time in the 100-yard freestyle (43.08) automatically qualified him for the 2002 NCAA Championships.

Last year's ACC most valuable swimmer, Ian Prichard of Virginia, won the 1650-yard freestyle for the second consecutive year. His time of 14:54.07 was an NCAA automatic qualifying time and also a new Maryland pool record. This also marked the fifth straight season that a Virginia swimmer has won the 1650-yard freestyle.

The Terps were led by Brian Luoma, Michael Malchak, and Eric Weinberg, who each finaled in two individual events. Luoma placed 5th in the 50-yard free (20.47) and 7th in the 100-yard free (45.17). Malchak placed 6th in the 1650-yard free (15:30.07) and 3rd in the 500-yard free (4:24.48), also setting a new school record. Weinberg placed 5th in the 100-yard back (49.85) and 6th in the 200-yard back (1:46.92), setting a new school record.

Campus Recreation Center Natatorium

Opened on Jan. 31, 1998, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium at the University of Maryland is one of the premier swimming and diving venues in the country. Featured in such national publications as Swimming Technique and International Aquatics magazines, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium not only benefits the Maryland swimming and diving teams, but also the University of Maryland community itself.

The Campus Recreation Center Natatorium was part of the $40 million Campus Recreation Center. It features one 50x25-yard pool with two movable bulkheads and an underwater sound system. There are two one-meter diving boards and two three-meter diving platforms. The natatorium pool holds more than 1.5 million gallons of water.

With seating for more than 1,000 spectators, the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium has and will play host to such national and regional events as the 1999 and 2002 ACC Championships and the YMCA Nationals in the summer of 1999, 2000, 2001, 2002 and 2003. The 1999 and 2000 FINA World Cups were held at the Campus Recreation Center Natatorium, making it the focus of national and international attention during the championships.

In addition to the natatorium, the Campus Recreation Center also has fitness and weight-lifting equipment, indoor basketball and volleyball courts, and an indoor track. A large outdoor pool complements the Campus Recreation Center and Natatorium, finishing a facility that is one of a kind and can only be found at the University of Maryland.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

ABOUT THE UNIVERSITY

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality, beginning with the quality of our students. For more than 10 years, every freshman class has been the most talented in the university's history, including this year's. Not only are their grade-point averages and SAT scores stellar, about half of them finished in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class.

But Maryland students excel in more ways than just the classroom. They are leaders in the arts and culture, community service, civic engagement and athletics.

What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

The university has 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, reaching $308.5 million for FY 01. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $17 million to $77 million in FY01. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 25,099 undergraduate and 9,061 graduate. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs, and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.

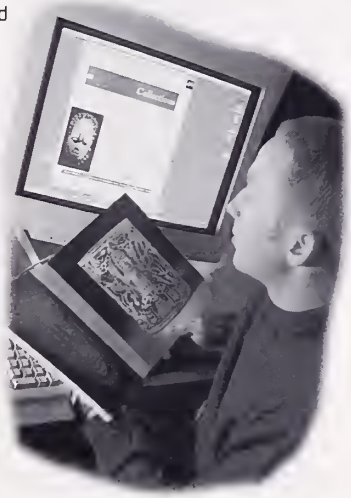
Libraries

Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.



The university's enviable location – just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis – enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.

Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

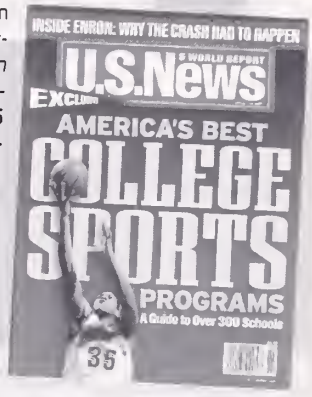
With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

DID YOU KNOW?

- In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 65 programs ranked among the nation's elite.
- A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.
- Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university 12th in graduating black males with baccalaureate degrees in all disciplines. (Maryland is second among non-historically black schools.) Maryland is 23rd in black male undergraduate enrollment figures among all schools.
- The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 13 among the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 4 in information technology, No. 6 in faculty research and No. 7 in entrepreneurship.



- In the only undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report–business and engineering–both the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 21) and A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 22) were ranked among the top 25. In business, the management information systems specialty was No. 7; entrepreneurship No. 12; general management specialty No. 21; e-commerce No. 8; human resources specialty No. 10. In engineering, the aerospace/aeronautical/astronautical specialty was No. 11.
- An economic impact study conducted by the economists with the Jacob France Center, an applied economics analysis center at the University of Baltimore, concluded that the University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, for a total statewide effect of nearly $1.8 billion.
- Maryland appointed William Phillips, a Nobel laureate in physics, to its faculty during the spring. Phillips will establish a world-class atomic, molecular and optical physics group on campus. The Philip Merrill College of Journalism now has five Pulitzer Prize winners on its faculty. A sixth faculty member, Eugene Roberts, directed the Philadelphia Inquirer to multiple Pulitzers as managing editor.

More, Better Students Go To Maryland

The University of Maryland has boasted its best freshman class ever for each of the last 10 years, and the entering freshmen for 2002 are no exception. The academic credentials – high school grades and SAT scores –are again the best ever. And more of those accepted by Maryland are now choosing to enroll here.

This year,half of our freshman finished high school in the top 10 percent of their class. And the average new freshman has taken at least 11 honors or advanced classes in high school. What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

What is more remarkable this year is how the university's successes in establishing quality programs – academic and athletic – and cementing a major role in the community, have attracted more of the best students than ever.

In its survey of the colleges of choice of top graduates in Maryland high schools last year, the Washington Post found that more than half picked the University of Maryland. No other single school was even close.

President Mote with the men's basketball championship trophy.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

DR. C.D. MOTE JR.

University President
Fifth Year at Maryland
California 1951

When C.D. "Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Four years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote: "The future of the state depends on this university."

Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds. We currently have 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News & World Report, compared with just one program a decade ago.

While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top 10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. More than 30 faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a virtual cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2002 is expected to exceed 3.90, while the average SAT score is nearly 1300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. As many as 40 percent of all new freshmen are now enrolled in such programs as Honors, Gemstone, College Park Scholars and other living-learning communities that bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting.

Business Partnerships

In order to fulfill its role as the state's most important asset, Mote has emphasized that the university must be engaged with the business and government communities in substantial and meaningful ways. Under his leadership, Maryland has provided its technological expertise to help the state improve its business processes through a Web portal and has consulted with hundreds of Maryland businesses through its Technology Extension Program.

In recent years, the university also helped to attract Fujitsu Laboratories of America to open a research facility in College Park. Fujitsu, the third-largest communications company in the world, shares a building with the Joint Global Change Research Institute, a research partnership between the university and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.

Research with Impact

Sponsored research funding has more than doubled at the University of Maryland since 1990, adding significantly to the university's value as both an economic and an intellectual resource. In FY 2001, the university received $250 million in research grants, much of it directed at projects that will directly improve our social, educational and economic well-being.

Recent highlights of research funding include more than $10 million from the National Science Foundation to study a wide range of issues related to information technology, from hardware to sociological impacts of the Internet. NSF also funded two major teaching initiatives in the College of Education totaling more than $20 million and taking the university's expertise directly into Maryland schools to improve math and science instruction. Mote himself chaired an NSF-sponsored task force last year to study the feasibility of voting over the Internet.

World-Class Facilities

During Mote's second year in office, the university began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities.

Highlights of the construction activity on the campus include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; the Comcast Center, scheduled to open in fall 2002; new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering; extensive renovations to the Adele Stamp Student Union; and new parking structures.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience, not just a showcase to impress visitors and friends. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in last season's NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America.

"That's no accident," Mote says. "Institutions that are committed to excellence tend to be excellent in every endeavor. Our successes in basketball, lacrosse and other sports reflects our culture of quality as much as our successes in engineering, business, education and journalism."

DEBORAH A. YOW

Director of Athletics
Ninth year at Maryland
Elon 1974

- Selected in 2002 by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In football, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl. In men's basketball, won the ACC regular season in 2002, as well as the NCAA national championship. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved at this distinguished level in these sports in the same year.
- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field hockey played for the national championship.
- Women's lacrosse has continued its winning ways and has won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center.
- The athletics budget was balanced for the eighth consecutive year.
- In 2001-02 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Deborah A. Yow is in the ninth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's eight years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability. Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics two years ago is an indication of the respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all eight of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $40 million annually and the sizable prior operative debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Maryland athletics are exceptional:

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past eight years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied ... our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently ... we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools ... to work hard and work smart ... to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being a highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and at the University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, Dr. Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarship, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success ... and the basis for our bright future."

SHAWN FLYNN

Assoc. AD/Internal Operations
First year at Maryland
Pittsburgh Johnstown 1988

Shawn Flynn is in his first year as associate athletics director for internal operations and championships coordinator. He is responsible for overseeing baseball, men's lacrosse, men's soccer, women's soccer, and the men's and women's swimming programs. In addition, he supervises the facilities and operations unit.

Flynn came to Maryland in 1988 as a graduate assistant for Intramurals and Sports Clubs with Campus Recreation Services. In 1990 he was hired as the Campus Recreation Coordinator for Facilities and Sports Clubs. In that role he administered a 25-club Sport Club Program in addition to establishing a First-Aid/CPR program. In 1994 his responsibilities expanded when he was promoted to assistant director for facilities and sports clubs.

Two years later Flynn was promoted to associate director for facilities. He played an integral role in the development, opening and operation of two major facility initiatives, the Campus Recreation Center and Ritchie Coliseum. Flynn served as the department liaison with various campus departments and worked with university committees and working groups. Flynn was the event director for the 1999 and 2000 FINA United States Swimming World Cup.

In addition to his work at Campus Recreation Services, Flynn served as the site director for the Nationals Futures Tournament/Super Camp for the United States Field Hockey Association since 1996. He was also a member of the 2000 U.S. Swimming Olympic Trials event team and has assisted the Washington Regional 2012 Coalition.

Flynn earned his bachelor of arts degree in business/economics from the University of Pittsburgh at Johnstown in 1988. He went on to earn a master's in kinesiology with a concentration in sport management from the University of Maryland in 1992.

Flynn and his wife Debbie have two children, Shane (7) and Matthew (3).

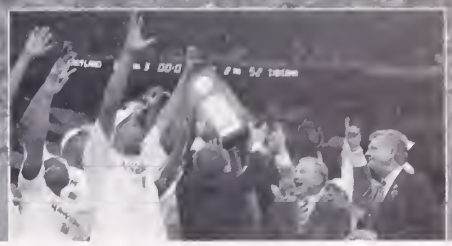
UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND



The Maryland basketball team captured the NCAA title in 2002.

The Atlantic Coast Conference

The Tradition

Consistency. It's the mark of true excellence in any endeavor.

However, in today's intercollegiate athletics, competition has become so balanced and so competitive that it is virtually impossible to maintain a high level of consistency.

Yet the Atlantic Coast Conference has defied the odds. Now in its 50th year of competition, the ACC has long enjoyed the reputation as one of the strongest and most competitive intercollegiate conferences in the nation. And that is not mere conjecture, the numbers support it.

John Swofford, ACC Commissioner

Since the league's inception in 1953, ACC schools have captured 85 national champion-ships, including 43 in women's competition and 42 in men's. In addition, 120 men and 31 women have earned the coveted title of NCAA champion.

If success is best measured in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC is unrivaled in NCAA annals. With Maryland's victory over Indiana in last year's national title game, ACC teams have captured nine NCAA basketball championships, including five over the last 12 years.

No conference has posted a better NCAA Tournament record than the ACC since the NCAA's inaugural tournament in 1938. The nine current conference members have posted an NCAA Tournament-best mark of 296-150 for a sterling .664 winning percentage against the nation's toughest competition.

Since 1985, when the NCAA Tournament was expanded to 64 teams, the ACC teams have been even more impressive compiling a 184-87 (.679) NCAA record, including 51 "Sweet 16" appearances and 18 Final Four berths. Since 1985, 51 of the 92 ACC teams receiving NCAA berths have won at least two NCAA Tournament games.

Over the last five years, the ACC is the only conference in the nation to have each of its teams ranked at least one week in the Associated Press poll. Even more impressive, since 1990 ACC teams are 161-150 against non-conference ranked opponents.

North Carolina and Duke lead all ACC schools with three NCAA championships each. NC State has two NCAA titles to its credit and Maryland one. The Tar Heels captured NCAA titles in 1957, 1982 and 1993 while the Blue Devils won back-to-back championships in 1991 and 1992 and their third in 2001. The Wolfpack walked away with the coveted crown in 1974 and 1983 while the Terps claimed last year's crown.

The stature of ACC basketball is defined by its national television exposure. An all-time high 154 televised games involving ACC teams headline the league's 2002-03 schedule, including a record 231 appearances. League teams are slated to make 135 appearances on national television networks. Seventy of the league's 72 regular season conference games, including 42 on national television networks are scheduled to be televised.

2001-02 in Review

The 2001-02 academic year concluded with the league pocketing three more national team titles and six individual NCAA crowns. In all, the ACC has won 42 national team titles over the last 12 years.

The ACC's 2001-02 national champions were North Carolina in men's soccer, Maryland in men's basketball and Duke in women's golf. Overall, 97 ACC teams took part in post-season play compiling a 94-57-1 (.622) record.

A total of 188 student-athletes from the ACC earned first,second or third-team All-America honors this past year. In addition the ACC produced eight national Players of the Year, two national Rookies of the Year and six national Coach of the Year recipients.

The ACC placed at least one team in the top 10 nationally in 15 of the 25 sports sponsored by the league. In all, 33 ACC teams finished their season with a top 10 ranking.

History of the ACC

The Atlantic Coast Conference was founded on May 8, 1953, at the Sedgefield Inn near Greensboro, N.C., with seven charter members - Clemson, Duke, Maryland, North Carolina, North Carolina State, South Carolina and Wake Forest - drawing up the conference by-laws.

The withdrawal of seven schools from the Southern Conference came early on the morning of May 8, 1953, during the Southern Conference's annual spring meeting. On June 14, 1953, the seven members met in Raleigh, N.C., where a set of bylaws was adopted and the name became officially the Atlantic Coast Conference.

On December 4, 1953, conference officials met again at Sedgefield and officially admitted the University of Virginia. The first, and only, withdrawal of a school from the ACC came on June 30, 1971 when the University of South Carolina tendered its resignation.

The ACC operated with seven members until April 3, 1978, when Georgia Tech was admitted. The Atlanta school withdrew from the Southeastern Conference in January of 1964.

The ACC expanded to nine members on July 1, 1991, with the addition of Florida State.

academic support & career development

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Kathy Fontaine

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.

The mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for longtime Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for six professional academic counselors, a director of enrichment programs, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for two professional counselors, a program assistant and a 16-station desktop computer center.

Academic courses, programs and services offered by ASCDU include the following:

- Prospective student-athlete orientation
- Academic counseling
- NCAA academic eligibility monitoring
- Academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops
- Accredited tutorial support
- Individualized learning program
- EDCP 108-K (College learning strategies and skills)
- EDCP 108-M (Math learning strategies and skills)
- UNIV 100/101 (First-year transitions to the university)

The Staff

Nine full-time professionals, two graduate assistants, tutorial support staff and student associates comprise the unit's workforce. Assistant Director Kathy Fontaine serves the swimming and diving team's academic support counselor.

Student-Athlete Advisory Council

The Student-Athlete Advisory Council (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's (National Collegiate Athletic Association) Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success Program (C.H.A.M.P.S.) and the NCAA Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/ Life Skills Programs:

•Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation

- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

STRENGTH & CONDITIONING

In the highly competitive collegiate swimming and diving world the off-field preparation of the student-athlete is a critical component to the on-field success of any Division I program. Dwight Galt, Maryland's director of strength and conditioning, and Corliss White, who works with the team, believe strongly that a solid off-field training program can dramatically improve levels of performance, as well as significantly reduce the chance of injury. The benefit of performing structured strength and power training throughout the entire year has allowed the Terps to reach new levels in physical development.

At the University of Maryland, the maximal development of athleticism is the primary goal of the strength and conditioning program. To accomplish this requires more than just strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, agility, flexibility, conditioning, plyometrics, and nutrition also play critical roles. The Terps' strength staff places substantial emphasis on all these areas, with special attention on the improvement of speed potential. Galt and his staff employ a wide range of state-of-the-art training methods to assist in enhancing all aspects of speed development.

The Terps are fortunate to train in one of the premier weight training facilities in the nation. Conveniently located in the Gossett Team House, this facility has excellent aesthetic appeal, with two magnificent skylights and large windows overlooking the field at Byrd Stadium. The Terps' spacious weight room includes 7,200 square feet of functional floor space, with two elevated offices.

MEDIA INFORMATION

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Campus Recreation Natatorium Center may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Jason Baum in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-7068. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.
